

Anabaptist World

Mennonite news, inspiring stories

The Anabaptist World social media pages serve as a platform for communication between the public and Anabaptist World and a channel to share Anabaptist World content and reporting. We encourage respectful and constructive dialogue while maintaining a safe and respectful space for the great breadth and variety of Anabaptist identity and faith practice.

Social Media tends to be the place where there is the least amount of restraint in posting comments and messages that can be hurtful, dangerous, or threatening.

For all of us on Anabaptist World's pages, we are allowed to disagree. In fact, we most certainly will, but Anabaptist World will not allow comments or content that question anyone's humanity.

We ask all our followers and commenters to remember that we are all created in the image of God even when we deeply disagree with one another.

We are committed to the removal of comments and users who violate the following outlined guidelines as quickly as we can, and we recommend that if you observe any of the following, you also utilize the social media's reporting tools.

To ensure productive engagement, we reserve the right to remove comments, posts, or other content that:
